XIII. Working Remotely

Working remotely is an option, not a universal employee benefit or right, which may be incorporated in an employee's work schedule with approval of an employee's supervisor. There are specific positions within the organization that may be mandated to be present in the office on a daily basis. These positions will be designated by the Executive Director and/or their designee.

The employee's supervisor may approve remote work, when the employee:

- has a satisfactory attendance record;
- meets performance goals and expectations; and
- consistently demonstrates the ability to complete tasks and assignments in alignment with expectations

Newly hired employees may be given time to demonstrate these measures while teleworking.

When considering whether to approve a remote working the employee's supervisor should consider whether:

- an employee can maintain or increase personal productivity;
- the nature of the employee's work and responsibilities is conducive to remote work without causing significant disruption to performance or service delivery;
- remote work can be accomplished with no additional cost to UIPA;
- remote work is consistent with the needs of UIPA, customers, and the employee;
- the needs and schedules of co-workers can be balanced with the needs of the requesting employee; and
- approval or denial of the employee's request is consistent with UIPA's response to requests from other similarly situated employees.

Human Resources shall review and make a recommendation to the Executive Director on an employee request for a modified remote work plan based on ADA.

An employee is accountable for the work performed while working remotely and may be asked to verify hours and work performed via a work log.

Working remotely does not affect an employee's salary, job responsibilities, benefits, or the amount of time the employee is expected to work.

An employee working remotely is held to the same performance expectations as an employee who does not work remotely. If an employee is not meeting those expectations:

Document Number:	BP-11	Version:	3.0
Effective Date:	December 2019	Last Revision Date:	July 17, 2023
Policy Owner:	Benn Buys	Approved By:	UIPA Board

- the employee may be required to return to traditional working arrangements at the UIPA office; and
- the employee may be subject to a performance improvement plan or other disciplinary action, up to, and including, termination.

The Executive Director or their designee may terminate or suspend an arrangement to work remotely at any time and for any reason.

If a supervisor approves a remote work plan where an employee is scheduled to work remotely 100% of the time, the employee will always have access to workspace at the UIPA building.

Any hardware or software purchased by UIPA remains the property of UIPA and shall be returned at the request of management. UIPA-owned software may not be duplicated without formal, written authorization.
